

INTELLIGENT OFFICE

Phone Answering Service, On-Demand

As a modern business owner you have a lot on your plate, and you don't want to be forced to switch gears every time a phone call comes in. Would your life be easier if you had someone who could handle that important task for you? That's where phone answering services come in handy.

Our virtual receptionists get to know your business and your clients. We're local, professional and an extension of your team.

What makes phone answering services so useful?

Whatever your needs, Intelligent Office has a solution. Because our phone answering services are fully customizable, you can get the support you need on a full-time or part-time basis.

Every Call Answered

Ever missed a call from a current or potential client? Well, those days are over. When calls are always answered you'll make more sales and boost customer satisfaction, every single day.

Go Where Your Business Takes You

With a virtual receptionist there's no need for you to be tethered to your office or your cell phone. Effortlessly generate new business (and exceed existing customers' expectations) every time so that you can do more business, better.

Save Time (and Money) on Staffing

Hiring a dedicated receptionist is expensive and time consuming. With our services you know you're working with competent and reliable professionals. If you have a business need that can be accomplished remotely, we have the talent required to get the job done.

The Human Element

No one wants to Press 1 for Support, and your customers definitely don't want to speak with a robot. With Intelligent Office your clients can speak to a live person, right away.
