HAYVN is a woman on her own journey.

She's independent by nature and entrepreneurial at her core. She's curious and determined, and she's got this idea she has to put into the world.

She's a freelance designer and a remote corporate worker. She's got funding for her startup and is writing a book. She loves what she does, but she craves a special work space of her own (other than the home office or local coffee shop).

She seeks out inspiration and always shows up. She needs access to valuable resources, and she thrives around women, who, like her, are on fire about what they do.

We created HAYVN for her – for you – a beautiful space; light-filled, modern and women focused. We can't wait to meet you!
